Evidence shows HPV vaccines like Gardasil are causing severe injuries and deaths

The Epoch Times' Dr. Yuhong Dong has been releasing piece by a piece an important series called "The HPV Vaccine: A Double-Edged Sword?" that probes yet another dangerous vaccine that never should have been approved for human use.

For the past three years, most attention has centered around Wuhan coronavirus (COVID-19) "vaccines" as those were the primary concern. But before that, you may recall that HPV vaccines like Gardasil, a product of Merck & Co., were being pushed and even forced on young people as part of the official government injection schedule.

In order for young people to attend school, as one example, many of t ey must take an HPV injection, HPV being an acronym for human papillomavirus, which the establishment says causes cervical cancer.

Since only females have a cervix, HPV jabs were initially only a requirement for girls. Later on, it was expanded to include boys as well because Big Pharma can make twice the amount of cash if both girls and boys get injected for cervical cancer.

In part one of the series, Dr. Dong highlighted documented evidence showing that HPV injections are killing young girls and boys. In her second installment, which we will cover here, Dr. Dong documents evidence of non-fatal but severe injuries in young, previously healthy boys and girls who lost their ability to live normally after taking Gardasil.

Gardasil is still crippling young girls and leaving them disabled for life

One of the cases Dr. Dong covers is that of Paula Aldea, who after getting jabbed for HPV lost her ability to walk and must now use a wheelchair. Before getting jabbed for HPV, Aldea was a normal, healthy young girl.

"Our Paula is gone," stated Aldea's father.

Young Paula received her first HPV injection on May 26, 2022. Less than a month later on June 25, she called her father sobbing while waiting at a bus stop to tell him that she needed to be picked up and taken home because she could no longer feel her legs.

Young Paula also developed unbearable back pain that resulted in her having to be rushed to the emergency room where she was prescribed a few chiropractic exercises and told to go home. Once home, Paula told her father that she couldn't "feel anything from her body anymore."

"There was this pain," Paula said. "I think it was the worst pain I've ever had. And then this numbness – you just don't realize it. You can't walk, but you don't think about it:

What will the future be like? What will it be like now? Even when they said I had to stay in the hospital, I thought why?"

It was later determined that the Gardasil jab caused Paula's body to attack its own immune cells on the myelin layer of her spinal cord. This autoimmune response is the reason why she can no longer walk.

It turns out that there are many cases similar to Paula's that, for the most part, never get reported. Young children everywhere who got jabbed for HPV are now debilitated and unable to live normal lives because the severe inflammation caused by the shots is destroying their brain, nervous system and motor function.

"They had severe nervous system symptoms emerging after the second dose, which often progressed rapidly," Dr. Dong explains about nearly every case of post-Gardasil health damage. "Most of them have been diagnosed with demyelinating diseases, despite varying outward symptoms."
